ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

Research is the most important component of higher education. It is a crucial dimension of quality. Quality, in turn, is ensured only through ensuring empowerment of people involved in it. An environment of cross disciplinary discussion, constructive criticism, hands-on experiences to initiate appropriate research work, is needed, particularly in the field of Social Science. The Research Methodology Workshop-I purports to develop a broad understanding of various issues in Social Science Research. In the broader context of research problems of social science, it will be an attempt to understand the scope of Qualitative and Quantitative research in relation to human and society.

It also aims at developing research skills of problem identification, reviewing, stating problems, framing research questions, formulating hypothesis, and presentation of ideas in academically acceptable ways. The Workshop will incorporate various practical activities and will try to create a platform to understand how research is done in related fields of social science therefore providing an insight to look beyond the disciplinary boundaries while selecting the research problems.
