About Centre for Budget and Governance Accountability (CBDA), New Delhi

CBDA is an independent non-profit organisation enhancing transparency and accountability in governance through rigorous analysis of policies and budgets, and fostering people's participation in public policy processes by demystifying them. Envisioned by a group of civil society leaders and academicians, CBGA was started in 2002 and became an independent organisation in 2005 with the mandate to promote transparent, accountable and participatory governance, and a people-centred perspective in preparation and implementation of budgets in India. With the aim of facilitating progressive changes in policies, budgets and governance processes, CBGA carries out in-depth research on a range of sectors and issues – focusing on the policy framework and budgetary priorities, the design of budgets at a disaggregated level, and the bottlenecks in implementation.
