1.2 SALESFORCE DEVELOPER TRAILMIX SUPERSET

Salesforce does offer a variety of badges and certifications through their Trailhead platform to recognize and validate the skills and expertise of individuals in the Salesforce ecosystem.

Here's a breakdown of how Salesforce badges and certifications typically work:

Trailhead Badges: Trailhead is Salesforce's online learning platform, which offers various modules and trails to help individuals learn and develop Salesforce skills. As you complete these modules and trails, you earn badges. These badges are a way to showcase your knowledge and skills in different Salesforce areas, such as administration, development, and more. While there may not be a specific "Superset Badge," you can earn various badges that demonstrate your proficiency in different Salesforce topics.

Salesforce Certifications: Salesforce offers a range of certifications for different roles within the Salesforce ecosystem, including Administrators, Developers, Consultants, and Architects. These certifications typically require passing a proctored exam that tests your knowledge and skills in
